unexpected pleasure I've heard about Elizabeth Bear before and Shoggoths in Bloom in particular. These short stories generally operate within sci-fi horror but only in regard to setting or context. The underlying themes of Bear's stories belie the expectations of genre fiction; these are stories about nurturing loss. Short fiction from Elizabeth Bear, recipient of the John W. Campbell Award for Best New Writer, includes her Hugo and Theodore Sturgeon Memorial Award-winning "Tideline" and Hugo-winning novelette "Shoggoths in Bloom" as well as an original, never-published story "A World Fantasy Nebula" and Philip K. Dick nominee "Bear". She is one of speculative fiction's most acclaimed, respected, and prolific authors.
